DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4, 6-9 and 12-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sugioka et al. or Kugure et al., each independently in combination with Matsumura et al., for reasons cited in the actions.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 10/31/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
4. Regarding Sugioka et al., while applicant is correct that the recitation of "0.01% to 20% by weight" was in reference to the polar group of component E, and not component E itself, Sugioka et al. does exemplify 10% of component E to be present in every embodiment recited to contain component E, based on the total components of the resin compositions (col. 9, lines 25-60).

This, in combination with the teaching in col. 3, lines 15-21 of a single embodiment containing components (A), (B), (E), and (G) in combination with the filler:

Art Unit: 1713

"The styrene resin composition of the invention comprises a resin moiety and an inorganic filler moiety to be mentioned below. The resin moiety comprises, as the indispensable component, the component (A) to be mentioned below, and optionally contains the component (B), the component (E), the component (F) and the component (G) also to be mentioned below," is sufficient evidence of obviousness as it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to arrive at applicant's invention because the claimed subject matter falls within the generic embodiments of the prior art in view of Matsumura et al., and the person of ordinary skill in the art would have expected all the embodiments of the prior art to work successfully.

Further, One of ordinary skill in the art would have found it prima facie obvious to determine a workable or even optimum range of poly(arylene ether) resin for the resin composition. "[D]iscovery of an optimum value of a result effective variable in a known process is ordinarily within the skill of the art." In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 276, 205 USPQ 215, 219 (CCPA 1980); "[W]here the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955).

5. In response to applicant's argument that Kogure et al. is to laminates with paper, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

6. Further regarding Kogure et al., one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

7. The rejections are still deemed proper and therefor MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
